

Members of the Harlem Ambassadors basketball team performed in front of a full Longhorn gym Saturday night. They played the Longhorn Has-Beens and put on quite a show, dunking the ball on the Has-Beens every chance they got. But their biggest admirers were the young kids in the stands that night. Following the game, players remained on the floor until the last autograph was signed. The event was sponsored by the Imperial Chamber of Commerce and proved to be a great family event. Any profits from the event will be presented to Chase County Schools. (Republican photos)
