

Six Nebraska Husker football players came to Imperial Saturday as part of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) Husker Tour 2010. The players, Rex Burkhead, Roy Helu, Jr., Marcel Jones, Eric Haag, Nick Failla and Imperial's own Mathew May, shared with a crowd of more than 100 how their faith plays a major role in their daily lives and how it helps them to deal with the ups and downs of their college football careers. Following their program, the Huskers sat down to give autographs and the kids wanted a signature for their local favorite. Here, Hayden Bahler, left, waits as May signs Bahler's shoulder pads. For more on the FCA visit, see page 4. (Republican photo)