

Whenever Imperial receives heavy, consistent rains, the grassy area south of Chase County Community Hospital fills with water. It's been a rainy week here, and so the water has collected once again. A fun-loving hospital employee, Pete Snyder, took advantage of the conditions to make a statement, or possibly suggesting where he'd rather be than at work? (Republican photo)