

Brian Howe, the former lead singer of Bad Company, brought his band to the Chase County Fair Saturday night to perform the hit songs he sang with Bad Company. Prior to his show, Howe came out to meet with fans and sign autographs. Howe noted it's because of his fans that he is still able to tour and share Bad Company's music and meeting with them is one way to show his appreciation. (Republican photos)

