The Imperial Republican

An extra Monday on the calendar this month meant an extra week between Imperial city council meetings.

But, the council and mayor will be back in session Monday, Nov. 5, at 6 p.m. in the council chambers.

Earlier this week, the following agenda items were on the docket:

—West Central Nebraska Development District (WCNDD) will be on the agenda to recommend possible resolutions of declared nuisance and resolutions to rescind (based on recent inspections).

—Monthly Senior Services report.

—Consider approval of replat for Moreno subdivision. Tricia and Josh Moreno had a survey of the property their house sits on to divide it out of adjoining land so that they can buy the house.

—Consider approval of annual highway maintenance agreement with state.

—Consider Planning Commission recommendation to set speed limits, stop sign and crosswalk in Capital Mobile Home Court

—Consider Planning Commission recommendation to designate handicapped parking space on East 9th Street at school for loading/unloading handicapped students.
