

A status hearing was held in district court in Lincoln County on Nov. 19 for defendant Tracy Neal Black, 50, of Evanston, Wyo., who allegedly played a role in a failed robbery attempt at the Farmers State Bank in Wallace on Aug. 13.

During the status hearing, Lincoln County Attorney Rebecca Harling said she is waiting for depositions from three law enforcement officers and upon receipt they would be forwarded to defense attorney Robert Lindemeier.

The defendant has a court date set for Dec. 17. He remains in Lincoln County jail with bond at $125,000.

Black was arrested along with accomplice Drew Steier following the alleged bank robbery attempt.

Black is accused of driving a getaway vehicle and allegedly waited outside while Steier allegedly went inside with a handgun.

Upon being told money was locked up, the two men drove out of town and were arrested about an hour later near Imperial.
