As of Monday, there had been one entry, according to Chairman Jack Schneider, although several persons have indicated interest.

Entries must be brought in a four to six quart slow cooker by 5 p.m. Judging, based upon color, aroma, flavor, texture and heat, will begin at 5:30 p.m.

The public is invited to taste the entries beginning at 6 p.m.

Prizes are $50 in Chamber Bucks for first place, $25 in Chamber Bucks for second place and $15 in Chamber Bucks for third place.

Pre-registration is not required but would be appreciated by calling Schneider at (308) 882-4363.
