

Jeannie and Joe Weiss recently sold raffle tickets for a “Patriotic Quilt,” with the $2,000 proceeds to be used by Bruce and Sheri Wheeler for their son Travis’ leukemia treatment. Carma Sazama, left, was the winner, but she promptly donated the full-sized quilt back to Weiss. “There are so many generous people in this community,” Weiss commented. Of her own contribution, Weiss said “We just wanted to do something for the Wheelers.” (Courtesy photo)
