In the past, the Chase County Chapter of Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge (FFVF) has held its annual Christmas House in private homes.

This year, a departure is being made by holding the event Dec. 7 from 9-11 a.m. in the Adams Lumber Kitchen Design Center in Imperial.

Those attending the popular fundraiser are asked to use the south door at Adams Lumber.

In addition to crafts, food and gifts, rhunzas will be sold.

Raffle tickets this year will net the lucky winners a Christmas wreath from Added Touch, or two separate single season passes to Chase County Schools' 2014-15 season.

Raffle tickets are $1 apiece or six for $5 and are available from FFVF members. The drawing will be held during the Christmas House.

Persons donating items to the Christmas House may take them to the store at 8 a.m. Dec. 7 or contact Carrie Terryberry, Jill Moline or Super Foods.

The Christmas House is the major fundraiser for FFVF, which sends youths to the FFVF campus at Valley Forge, Penn., as well as to Washington, D.C. The purpose of the organization is to promote patriotism and to teach American history.
