

A couple of Imperial second graders, Cooper Dillan, left, and Caleb Richman didn't let a little snow Sunday afternoon keep them off their bikes. They didn't have any trouble navigating the sidewalks and streets on their two-wheelers, but the outdoor activity required some bundling up in the single-digit temperatures. (Republican photo)