City council members and Mayor Annie Longan will meet in special session this Friday at 7:30 a.m. in the council chambers to consider appointment of a fourth council member.

Dustin Weiss resigned from the council earlier this month because he and his family moved out of the city limits.

The prospective appointment was on Monday's council agenda, but Mayor Annie Longan asked that the item be tabled, which the council approved.

Longan said Monday she was visiting with someone about the appointment, but details couldn't be finalized until the next day.

The council must approve Longan's appointment for the person to join the governing body.

The appointee will finish out Weiss' term, which runs until December, 2010.

Other sitting council members include Doug Gaswick, Chad Yaw and Sue Moore.
