

The pre-holiday trenchball tourney at Chase County Schools followed tradition Friday, continuing as a cut-throat contest on the final school day before the Christmas break. At right, senior Tyler Roenfeldt fires the ball at a fellow student as his team took an easy win. The faculty/coach/staff member team took advantage of their chance to wail the ball at students. Grade 7-12 Principal Mike Sorensen, below left, has no mercy for the recipients of his throw, while, at right, Dan Lenners uses a more subtle approach, sneaking up on his opponents. Others on the faculty team were Mark Bottom and Jerel Fortkamp, in back. The junior boys repeated as champions against seven other teams. (Republican photos)
