Dustin Noble, originally from Wauneta, was convicted of 15 violations last Thursday morning, including counts for killing antelope and deer over legal bag limits on several different hunting seasons. The 34-year-old Noble was assessed fines of $2,500 and damages of $7,7000, and his privileges to hunt, fish or trap were suspended for 10 years.

Noble had originally been charged with 71 game law violations, but 56 were dropped as part of a plea agreement.

Noble's wife, 28-year-old Jessica Noble, was convicted of one count of killing deer over the bag limit. She was fined $200 and ordered to pay $1,000 in damages.
