

The tykes at Little Longhorns preschool and day care at Zion Lutheran Church will be joining the big guys, when they begin school Aug. 22.

Preschool runs from 8:30-11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday at the church. Day care is provided all day, with learning activities included.

The new director of Little Longhorns is Lindsey Johnson, who also teaches the three-year olds. She replaces Jill Mays, who accepted a position at Chase County Schools (CCS).

New four-five year old class teacher is Stephanie Rau, who has been an aide at CCS.

Other staff members are Brenda Martinez (teaches 18 months to two years), Mayra Gomez (teaches six weeks to 18 months) and cook Ana Martinez.

Little Longhorns is owned by Tonya and Jeff Olsen and Cyndi and Dustin Weiss.
