

Have you thought about adding an eco-tourism or recreation enterprise to your ranch operation? Do you have an interest in rangelands in other countries? Then join the Nebraska Section—Society for Range Management in Ogallala on Oct 10-11.

“Maximizing Potential on the Ranch—Incorporating Ecotourism or Recreation into Your Operation” is the theme for the Section’s annual meeting. Speakers will address a variety of topics including “Management of Game Farms and Nature Preserves in Namibia,” “Rangelands of Namibia,” and “Considerations for eco-tourism and recreation from the NGO perspective” as well as other useful and interesting topics related to rangeland management. A tour of a local sod farm and the Eldrige unit of the Rex Ranch are also planned.

The meeting will be held at the Ogallala Quality Inn. Registration forms are available on the Nebraska Section, SRM website. For more information about this meeting visit the Nebraska Section SRM website <http://nesrm.org/> or contact Jonathan Soper (402) 437-4933 or jsoper3@unl.edu.
