

Troxell's Heating and Appliance moved this week to their new location at 533 Broadway, about a block south of their former site at 613 Broadway. Aaron and Michelle Troxell purchased the building that formerly housed Carman's Appliance, which closed the past year. The move is providing more space for their business, said Michelle Troxell, in addition to the added shop building in the lot west of the main street building. The building underwent extensive remodeling that included an enlarged display area, addition of a second bathroom, two new offices and a break room. Mandeville Construction completed much of the remodeling work, she said. A Grand Opening is planned after the first of the year. The Troxells opened their business in March 2010, after purchasing the former Robb's Sales & Service. (Republican photo)
