

Last week, Joe Hahn, a Syngenta agronomist from Junction City, Kan., was applying varying rates of fungicide to the Syngenta wheat plot on the Tom Luhrs farm northeast of Enders. Hahn said they're wanting to measure fungicide application rates to see what effect various rates have on yield. (Republican photo)