

Chase County high school students brought the Broadway play version of "The Little Mermaid" to the auditorium stage Saturday and Sunday. Tapainga Kahle brought Ariel to life with a voice that rivalled Disney's movie version of the story. She was joined by the male lead, Dan Sullivan, who played Prince Eric, shown below right after Ariel finds him washed up on the shore. The students, directors and parents helped design and make all of the sets and the elaborate costumes used in the performance. The show included all the musical hits that made the movie so popular, such as "Part of Your World," sung by Kahle, "Under the Sea" and "Kiss the Girl" performed by Ryan Moline, below center, who starred as Sebastian the crab. He was joined by a large chorus of characters. See more on page A8. (Republican photos)
